New Software Bundle from Nik Software, Inc. and iView Multimedia Enhances Digital Image Workflow

Nik Color Efex Pro 2.0 Select and iView MediaPro 3.0 now available together

New York, NY – November 2, 2006 – Digital imaging software developer Nik Software, Inc., today announced an arrangement with digital asset management pioneer iView Multimedia Ltd., a wholly owned subsidiary of Microsoft Corp., to offer a software bundle of Nik Color Efex Pro 2.0 Select Edition and iView MediaPro 3.0. This bundle combines two leading software solutions for improving digital imaging workflow to provide solutions for busy professional photographers.

The Nik Color Efex 2.0 Select and iView MediaPro 3.0 software bundle is available for purchase beginning today for $229.00. This is a $119.00 savings if each application were purchased separately.

“Today’s professional photographer is busier than ever and trying to manage and edit all their digital image files can be quite a daunting task,” said Michael J. Slater, Nik Software, Inc.’s president & CEO. “By combining these two software products into one convenient software bundle we are able to provide our customers with a way to process and edit their digital image files quickly and efficiently while also providing them with a great value.”

About Nik Color Efex Pro 2.0 Select
