xTrain.com Presents “The Russell Brown” Show

xTrain selected to distribute free Adobe® Photoshop® tutorials

San Francisco, CA, Macworld Booth #S-416 (January 11, 2008) – xTrain.com, a leader in online video training for media, arts, and design, is pleased to announce today that the company has been selected as the exclusive distributor of Adobe’s Senior Creative Director Russell Brown’s “The Russell Brown Show” – an ongoing series of some of the best tutorials available on the Internet for learning Adobe Photoshop. Over the next few months, xTrain will host more than 90 free “Russell Brown Shows” on xTrain.com covering various topics on Adobe Photoshop.

“We’re honored that Russell Brown has singled-out xTrain to distribute his Adobe Photoshop tutorials to students that want to learn all there is to learn about Photoshop. Russell Brown has amazing insight on what’s new within Adobe Photoshop and he is creating original and entertaining training for every tutorial,” said Jeremy Vest, xTrain’s president. “Russell is one of the best Photoshop teachers on the planet and his insider knowledge of Adobe Photoshop is second to none.”

About Russell Brown

As Sr. Creative Director at Adobe Systems Incorporated, Russell Preston Brown holds a unique position in the computer industry. Brown maintains a vital presence in the digital design and publishing community, facilitating the exchange between the user and software developer that is so essential to Adobe's software development. With complete mastery and breathtaking style, Brown shows users how to work – and play – with Adobe software. He has given the world's leading photographers, publishers, art directors, and artists a strong grasp of the software tools that, by virtually all accounts, have led to Adobe's applications becoming the standard by which others are measured. Remember what Russell always says, "Learning about Adobe Photoshop should never be boring." Brown, a Photoshop Hall of Fame Winner, states, "xTrain is the future of online training."
